In 2024, BSRU reported 2,985 full-time equivalent (FTE) first year students across six faculties. Of these, the largest proportion of graduates earned less than 150,000 Baht per year, with 56% (1668 students) falling into this income range. A smaller percentage (6%) reported earning more than 300,000 Baht per year, indicating that high-earning graduates are relatively limited. Notably, the Faculty of Education had the highest first-year student population (878), while Industrial Engineering and Technology had the smallest (190). Around 5% (154 students) reported having no income, and 6% (174 students) provided no data.
